House of Commons

The House of Commons (HOC) has been a well respected leader in the substance use disorder (SUD) treatment field for more than 48 years. The program helps adult men change their lives by providing the requisite tools for establishing and maintaining a drug free and crime free lifestyle.

Program Philosophy

HOC treats SUD as a disease that affects an individual biologically, psychologically and socially. The thinking associated with this disease interferes with healthy functioning. Using Cognitive Behavioral Treatment (CBT) as the primary intervention, change and self-efficacy is possible and individuals can become productive members of their community. HOC works to create a co-occurring capable system that is welcoming, person-centered, recovery oriented, culturally competent and trauma-informed. HOC encourages, supports & guides individuals to explore all methods of treatment identified as beneficial toward their wellness, including Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT).

Fees

A sliding fee scale is available which allows individuals to obtain services based on ability to pay. Publically funded health coverage is accepted. If you have any questions regarding coverage or payment, please call the program directly. Individuals with ability to pay privately are accepted.

Program Eligibility Criteria

The program uses the American Society of Addiction Medicine (ASAM) Patient Placement Criteria to determine if an individual is appropriate for a residential level of care. Additionally, the program's funding sources have guidelines for admission to treatment. Dependent upon funding source, admission criteria may include that the individual:

- ◆ Meets diagnostic criteria for a defined substance use disorder.
- ◆ Is referred by appropriate authorization source.
- ◆ Is sufficiently motivated.

All referrals are reviewed by the Program Coordinator for eligibility.

Length of stay is variable based upon individual need.

Non-Program Eligibility Criteria

HOC reviews all warrants, holds or detainers from other jurisdictions prior to admission. Individuals involved with the courts must sign a release of information to the court upon admission.
